

---

Pair Of Chelsea Porcelain Figures, Red Anchor, Hunter And Lady, Circa 1755

1 553 EUR

Signature : Chelsea Porcelain

Period : 18th century

Condition : Restauré

Material : Porcelain

Description

A fine pair of Chelsea porcelain red anchor period figures of a huntsman and lady, c1755, each with a dog by their side, him with a shotgun or musket, both with elaborate decoration and flowering bodge on rococo bases, the undersides of which are unglazed. Maker's marks: Her: Red anchor mark on reverse of base. Him: Apparently unmarked. Measurements: Height (her): 24 cm (9.5 in) Height (him): 22.5 cm (8.9 in) Condition: Both have tight hairlines to their unglazed bases. There is no apparent damage to the figures themselves. However, inspection under ultraviolet light reveals some expert restoration, as follows: Her: Flaring at her dog's neck and her right hand. The shoulder of her left arm, under the lapel of her coat. There is faint flaring at her left hand at the wrist, her hat, and

Dealer

Lefays

Fine, affordable, art and antiques with excellent customer service

Mobile : +44 7772174440

Hare Lane,

Chard TA20

the bocage.Him: Flaring at the fingers of his right hand and lightly on the barrel of his gun. Also at the little finger of his left hand and the edge of the right side of the base.Shipping/Import: Free to most destinations. EU customers, PLEASE NOTE: Our price for this item includes all shipping and import costs (customs duty, clearance fees, and VAT). For other destinations, please inquire.