Description

Antique Louis Philippe-era display cabinet (built between 1830 and 1850), French-made mahogany. Of particular quality, given its contoured shape on the cornice and upper doors, the cabinet was restored in our workshop. The display cabinet is lined with silk moiré, the shelves can be raised or lowered as desired, and the lower section consists of two drawers and doors, internally lined with paper with a Florentine lily motif. The cabinet can be used in a variety of ways: as a display cabinet, or as a bookcase. The cabinet measures 145 cm wide, 250 cm high, and 50 cm deep. The upper section is 33 cm deep.
