Dimensions: 76 x 56 cm (sight size). Born in 1953 in Chambéry, Catherine Viollet is the only woman to have been associated with the Figuration Libre movement. Propelled onto the Parisian art scene at a very young age, she exhibited in the early 1980s alongside Robert Combas, Hervé Di Rosa, Rémi Blanchard, and François Boisrond, before defining her own style, somewhere between figuration and abstraction.

Her expressive and sensitive gestures find admirable expression in lithography on stone. In her studio, she has produced some very beautiful botanical prints and a few delicate figures reminiscent of Attic pottery. Our reflection on the
