Description

The work "Penitent Magdalene," attributed to Carlo Dolci, one of the most renowned Florentine painters of the 17th century, is an oil on panel painting measuring 33 x 45 cm. The work is dated to the artist's period of activity in Florence from 1616 to 1686.

The work depicts the figure of Magdalene in a moment of intense spirituality, characterized by an expression of profound meditation and pain. The composition is dominated by warm tones and a luminous chiaroscuro, typical of Dolci's style, which is distinguished by meticulous detail and emotional exploration through the skillful use of light.

Its authenticity is certified.
