Description

Antique Solid Oak Buffet Cabinet - Renaissance Style - 17th Century. Superb antique solid wood buffet in the Renaissance style, richly molded and carved. This buffet comprises two recessed sections: a lower section with two opening doors offering ample storage space, and an upper section with a two-door cupboard and an interior shelf. Practical central drawers provide storage for small items. The interior is lined with its original red fabric, adding considerable charm. It features a molded cornice and intricate decorative details. The piece is robust, stable, and in good overall condition for its age. It displays a beautiful antique patina, with some signs of age that contribute to its character (see photos). Ideal for a dining room, living room, entryway, or for decorating a classic style, castle, or period home.
