Description

Pair of illuminated bedside tables designed by Pierre Guariche for the furnishing of apartments in the La Plagne ski resort in the 1960s. Made of bent plywood and cream-white laminate, these wall-mounted units incorporate a diffused lighting system. Each table retains its original orange bulb cover, a characteristic graphic element of Guariche's style. Their design allows for flexible installation, either as a pair or separately, depending on the room's configuration. Provenance: La Plagne, the Alpine resort to which Pierre Guariche actively contributed in the 1960s. Dimensions of each table: H 20 cm, W 40 cm, D 27 cm. Manufacturer: Negroni, circa 1968.
