Description

Solid pine bench by Christian Durupt, designed for the Courchevel resort in the 1960s. The bench consists of a thick rectangular seat resting on straight legs, with a solid backrest forming a continuous linear element. The design is intentionally simple and functional, highlighting the material, the generous proportions, and the natural grain of the wood. The overall effect evokes robust furniture, designed for everyday use, characteristic of certain French designs from the 1970s. Seat height: 46 cm. France, circa 1960.
