Description

Returning from the Hunt at Koganegahara by Toyohara Chikanobu, 1897 - Depiction of the shogun's hunting party returning from Koganegahara, with the shogun himself. This type of hunt was reserved for members of the upper class, and these important feudal lords are enjoying a typical hunting outing, their attendants carrying a boar and what could be a wolf or fox tethered to poles. The silhouette of Mount Fuji rises in the distance. The last print of a triptych dedicated to the shogun's hunt.
