Description

Set of 4 Louis XVI style chairs, 1970s. In the neoclassical vein revived by decorators of the sixties and seventies (Maison Jansen, Henri Samuel, etc.), these chairs echo the codes of the 18th century: a square back with a molded frame, tapered legs with fluting, and a beaded apron. The off-white lacquered cabinetry highlights the profiles, while the studded upholstery and terracotta velvet add warmth to the design. In keeping with the style of high-quality re-editions, they offer comfortable seating and an elegant look, perfect around a table or as occasional chairs. A cohesive, well-balanced, and decorative quartet, ready to integrate seamlessly into a classic-chic or contemporary interior. Discover all our other products on our website: www.llantiquites.com
