Description

The Passion of the Violinist, oil on canvas, 61x50, signed by Guettier. The passion of his art, the effervescence of the violinist. Painted at the end of the 20th century, this contemporary painting with expressionist features is a creation by the artist "Guettier". The artist deliberately melted into a set of gray, blue and black brush strokes the figure of this violinist right in his art, that of music. Calm, confident, her closed eyes indicate a superhuman concentration, her art transcends her passion and desire. He gradually forgets his condition and surrenders to the gentle sound of the violin, a major musical instrument in most styles of classical music, as old as it is recent. This passion for the instrument of one's choice, to reach each note with perfection is a feeling that only instrument players can understand. True bliss of his own success, where the body and mind agree to rub the stretched threads of this instrument, to create a sumptuous symphonic harmony, for oneself and one's listeners. A pure pleasure that only instrument players can understand. Signed at the bottom right 'Guettier' perfectly represented this harmonic madness that is to play his favorite instrument to perfection. This work will be perfect for a lover of contemporary art as well as classical music! Fast & neat shipping in France, Europe & worldwide.
