Description

A 19th-century Empire period pedestal table in solid mahogany. It rests on four column legs joined by an elegant curved stretcher. It is topped with a circular marble slab in gray veined with white, adding contrast and refinement to the piece. This pedestal table has a clean, architectural line, characteristic of the early 19th-century Empire style. It would be equally at home as a center table, side table, or end table. In very good overall condition with a beautiful antique patina. Delivery within Metropolitan France: EUR150. Contact us for more information.
