Description

An elegant and imposing Louis XV-style headboard, characterized by a wavy profile and refined frames in finely carved and gilded wood. The structure features a central cornice with scrolls, leaves, and rocaille motifs, typical of the Rococo style, framing a large padded panel upholstered in floral damask fabric in delicate, luminous tones. The overall effect creates a striking visual impact, lending lightness and movement to the silhouette. A highly decorative piece, ideal as a headboard for a double bed or as an ornamental wall panel. The gilding, with a warm, slightly worn patina, enhances the quality of the carving and gives the piece charm and authenticity. Period: Late/early 20th century Condition: Excellent condition with slight signs of aging Origin: Italy Dimensions: Height
