

Articulated Notary Lamp, Circa 1935

295 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Chromium

Description

Banker's or Notary's Lamp, in Chromed Metal and Green Opaline Glass, Circa 1930. This lamp, known as a notary's or banker's lamp, is adjustable in height as is the orientation of its adjustable shade. It has a chromed metal base weighted for reliable stability and a green opaline glass shade. In good overall condition, with only some silver plating loss on the base due to age.

There is a tiny chip inside the shade, not visible on the surface. See photo. Circa 1930-1940.

Dimensions: Adjustable height from 31.5 to 55.5 cm, shade: L 22 x W 14 cm. These lamps are called "banker's lamps" or "notary's lamps" because they were very common in banks and law offices in the early 20th century. The most famous model, the Emeralite lamp, was characterized by a green glass shade and a base

Dealer

Yesterday-Knuts

Antiquités et Décoration

Tel : 0032475901107

Rue Van Moer 11

Bruxelles 1000

made of... Brass. Its soft, glare-free light was ideal for reading and writing long documents, making it a preferred tool for notaries, lawyers, and accountants. Over time, their presence in these professional circles forged their reputation, becoming a symbol of seriousness and administrative elegance. Today, these lamps adapt to all environments, lending interiors a soft, muted light with an air of refined elegance.