Description

Beautiful statue of Emperor Napoleon I, in campaign dress with his greatcoat, bicorne hat, and sword, mounted on his rearing horse. The Emperor extends his arm towards victory, in a gesture of command. Bronze with a dark brown patina, an early cast, probably from the period of the Return of the Ash Wednesday, around 1840. A fine Napoleonic memento, the bronze is of high quality and not a late 19th or early 20th-century recast. Note: we are also selling a sea-green marble base to complete the piece. Excellent condition, no missing pieces, beautiful patina, little to no wear. Height 26.5 cm, Total length 23 cm, Base dimensions 22 x 9.2 cm
