Description

A soliflore vase from the Sèvres crystal factory, converted into a lamp base in the 1970s (bayonet fitting). This very elegant lamp base changes color in natural light; in the shade, it turns green, thanks to two layers of different colored crystal. A typical 1950s shape, it remains surprisingly modern. It is very stable, the base being a very heavy block. It is in very good condition, with a few micro-scratches that bear witness to its age. The crystal factory's mark is engraved on the underside of the base. Careful worldwide shipping.
