Description

Mahogany Bench - Restoration Period. This elegant Restoration period bench, crafted from solid mahogany, features clean lines and harmonious curves, typical of French furniture from the first third of the 19th century. The scrolled armrests and finely turned legs attest to meticulous craftsmanship and high-quality workmanship. The bench retains its original short-pile velvet upholstery in a rich, warm hue, offering an authentic patina and undeniable charm. Respecting the original piece, the braid and the jacona lining have been replaced to ensure comfort and durability without altering its original character. The entire piece has been fully inspected and restored in our workshops, with particular attention paid to the structure, joinery, and upholstery, guaranteeing a sound and stable
