Oudry is known for his vases, statues and small objects which he covered with pure copper deposited by electroplating, a technique already used by the famous goldsmith Christofle since the 1830s. Oudry was commissioned by the city of Paris to use his galvanic plating process to mold objects and monuments for the capital. Oudry, for example, was asked to copper the monumental fountains of the Place de la Concorde in the center of Paris, designed by Jacques Ignace
