Description

Superb and rare early 18th-century Telleruhr-type clock, made in southern Germany around 1700. Silvered dial with Roman numerals for the hours and minutes, surrounded by a beautiful silvered copper decoration depicting various figures in a floral setting. Very fine gilt brass hands. Gilt brass movement with verge escapement and a "cow's tail" type pendulum on the front of the dial. In very good working order. I am available for any further information or additional photos.
