Description

Pair of Wall Sconces - Late 19th/Early 20th Century. An elegant pair of wall sconces dating from the late 19th or early 20th century, crafted from patinated bronze and red enamel. Each sconce features a rich, classically inspired design of scrolling foliage, stylized leaves, and symmetrical motifs, set against a deep red enamel background that provides a refined contrast to the bronze patina. The finely molded arms each hold two lights, lending the ensemble a decorative and architectural appeal. The aesthetic evokes the historicist and decorative taste of the Belle Époque, blending elegance, rich materials, and high-quality craftsmanship. These sconces form a distinctive decorative ensemble, ideal for a classic interior, a townhouse, a living room, an entryway, or a stairwell. Period: Late 19th - early 20th
