Description

Refinement and balance characterize this three-sided glass-fronted display cabinet, crafted from mahogany and enhanced by a checkerboard marquetry inlay on the lower section. It opens with a central door adorned with a finely chiseled bronze escutcheon, complete with its ornate key and a fully functional lock. The top features a molded surface, while the fluted uprights are punctuated with hammered cross-shaped finials. They rest on tapered feet terminating in brass sabots. The interior, lined with delicate pink fabric, features three glass shelves, ideal for displaying objets d'art, porcelain, or precious collections. A display cabinet that is both decorative and functional, combining classic elegance and craftsmanship. Period: 1930 Excellent condition after restoration in our
