HEIRS At a time when French manufacturers were dying out in favor of production from the other side of the world, Pierre Dubois and Aimé Cecil decided to save workshops and their extraordinary talents... "Their collections are intended to be contemporary yet timeless, luxurious but never ostentatious..." In 1996, the Roche Bobois group selected a few models. The mini-collection was a success, and the collaboration was fruitful. JEAN BOGGIO (1963) is a French jeweler and goldsmith whose reputation has now extended far beyond France's borders. A craftsman and contemporary artist, Jean Boggio loves to tell stories through his creations, where dreamlike imagery meets fantasy. He has also dedicated himself to the decorative arts. He has designed collections for some of the most prestigious French houses, including Daum, Baccarat, Saint Louis, Raynaud, the Portieux crystal factory, Longwy, Haviland, Les Héritiers, Chopard, the Ritz, Porthault, Hermès, Maison Charles, and Maison Tisseran.
Sincerely, Philippe
