bankruptcy twice, in 1769 and 1776, but quickly resumed his business and continued to operate with the same success at 124 rue de Cléry until his death in 1796. He produced many remarkable pieces in the Louis XV and Louis XVI styles.

Thanks to the archives, we know that he employed highly regarded sculptors such as Pierre Rousseau, Claude Vinache, and Nicolas Heurtaut for his luxury seating. He is best known for his beautiful Louis XV chairs, remarkable for the nobility of their design and their understated elegance. His armchairs à la Reine and his large, luxurious bergères feature rather rare floral motifs, but are all exquisitely carved. The stamp used by Avisse had neither a space nor a period separating his first and last names, so his works are often attributed to someone named Lavisse.
