Description

Sublime kilim originating from Hakkari in the far east of Anatolia. Woven wool on wool in the traditional manner. The piece is composed of two panels joined and sewn together, a distinctive feature of most 19th and very early 20th-century pieces. It is indeed the work of the Kurdish population, the majority in the far east of Turkey. Extremely tight and regular weave. A work of art and a refined piece. Very beautiful, harmonious plant-based hues. Shades of indigo blue, midnight blue, madder red, red ochre... Like a signature, very beautiful braided net fringes, the work of the Kurds. The indigo blues are breathtaking. Circa 1880/1900. Perfect condition, like new!
