

Rare 19th-century Wedgwood Jasperware Vase In Blue-green

320 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Sandstone

Height : 21,5cm

Description

Jasperware vase, also known as pâte de terre or stoneware, attributed to the Wedgwood factory. Unsigned, but similar models of shape are referenced. Model number or decoration engraved in the clay: 414. Antique mount. 19th-century vase, possibly slightly earlier. Rare. Blue-green background color. Attractive baluster shape with a narrow neck. Neoclassical decoration typical of Wedgwood, depicting cherubs, some riding a lion, others in a sleigh pulled by a goat. Very fine quality, characteristic of antique pieces. In good condition. Slight play in the foot attachment, which needs tightening. Any questions welcome.
