Description

A very fine and substantial two-part buffet in solid oak, opening with four doors and two drawers, presented in two sections for easy assembly. The piece is distinguished by its rich decoration of carved natural wood, characteristic of the Louis XV style. The composition is enlivened by curved moldings, rocaille cartouches, asymmetrical scrolls, and finely carved floral motifs, typical of 18th-century aesthetics. The deep and balanced carving testifies to high-quality joinery and sculpture. antique patina, highlighting the relief and delicacy of the decoration. A few signs of age, normal for an antique piece, enhance its authenticity without detracting from its overall elegance.
