

Dutch Walnut Burl Sideboard, 18th Century

6 500 EUR

Period : 17th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Walnut

Width : 159 à 186cm

Height : 240cm

Depth : 50 à 65 cm

Description

A large 17th-century Dutch wardrobe in burr walnut, with an architecturally structured and undulating form. The upper section opens with two doors featuring large molded panels, highlighted by a book-patterned veneer with a pronounced grain. The whole is surmounted by a curved cornice, centered by a carved pediment with foliate decoration. The interior retains its original fittings, including shelves and small drawers, offering versatile storage. The lower section rests on a curved body, opening with three rows of drawers, including two large, bombé drawers, richly adorned with metal fittings (keyhole escutcheons and handles). It rests on carved, claw-shaped feet, characteristic of Northern European furniture of the period. A Dutch piece from the 17th century, this is a

Dealer

Mezetulle

www.galerieflorentine.com

Mobile : 06 45 77 83 43

Paris 75008

striking piece of furniture, particularly decorative due to the quality of its veneer and its design.

Available as a matching pair. Discover our collection of antique furniture by clicking here.