Description

English School, 18th century, elegant portrait of a young lady of quality. The work is presented in fine condition, on its original unclad wooden panel in an 18th-century style carved and gilded wooden frame. The whole creates a most beautiful decorative effect. The color tones in this 18th-century panel are very lovely, and the quality of the rendering of materials is also noteworthy. Based on the quality of the panel, this portrait can be attributed to George Romney or to his circle...
