Description

COD 01137 A splendid Italian painting from the mid-19th century. Oil on canvas, first canvas, painting depicting a marvelous portrait of a young woman, rendered with great delicacy of light and a refined psychological sense. The young woman emerges from a solid dark background, a choice that focuses all attention on the subject's face. The modeling of the face is indeed the most successful element; the light caresses the forehead, cheekbones, and nose with soft, progressive tonal transitions. The complexion, slightly rosy on the cheeks, reveals a refined chromatic sensibility, far removed from any academic rigidity. The loose hair, rendered with fluid brushstrokes, frames the face without stiffening it. The brick-red dress, with its discreet gold trim, introduces a warm and vibrant chromatic note. The soft flesh tones, the elegant cut of the profile, and the warm hues of the dress give the artwork an intensely intimate and contemplative quality. A painting that doesn't seek attention, but rather receives it, a silent, cultured, and profoundly human work. This painting easily adapts to a space, ideal for a study or bedroom. The frame is coeval, carved and gilded, beautifully decorated, with some signs of wear. Overall, it is in good condition. Internal dimensions: H 44.5 x W 33.5 cm. As each of our products it will be accompanied by a certificate of authenticity and guarantee with photographic documentation.
