Description

Imposing and structured, this 1940s Tank ring is crafted in rose gold and platinum. Its geometric and architectural design, characteristic of the Tank aesthetic, reflects the bold and modern spirit of jewelry from that era. It is set with diamonds totaling approximately 0.70 carats, adding brilliance and contrast to the strength of the setting. An iconic piece of jewelry from the mid-20th century, both elegant and assertive, it testifies to the jewelry-making expertise of the 1940s.
