

Bronze Sculpture Of A Small Child Saying "oh! Hey!" By Alfred Grevin And Friedrich Beer, 19th Cen

1 400 EUR

Signature : Alfred Grévin

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Diameter : 13

Height : 34

Description

Bronze child figurine "Oh! Hey!" by Alfred Grevin (1827-1892) and Friedrich Beer, 19th century. Silvered bronze. Inscription "Oh! Hey!" on the base. Collaboration between Alfred Grévin and Friedrich Beer. Signed on the base "A. GREVIN BEER". Very good condition. Alfred Grévin (1827-1892) was a French caricaturist, illustrator, sculptor, and costume designer, best known for his humorous silhouettes of Parisian women and for co-founding the famous Musée Grévin in Paris with journalist Arthur Meyer in 1881. Alfred Grévin and Friedrich Beer collaborated several times in the late 19th century, particularly in the field of bronze sculpture. Friedrich Beer, a sculptor of Moravian origin living in Paris, worked with Grévin on humorous and decorative works, often depicting

Dealer

Le Coeur du Village

Antiquités Brocante

Mobile : 0618587866

Paris 75015

stylized female figures or amusing scenes. These works, signed "A. Grévin and Beer", are characteristic of the decorative and humorous art of the time, blending Grévin's talent as a caricaturist with Beer's sculptural expertise.