Description

19th Century Indo-Persian Islamic Vase in Engraved, Blue-Gray Tinted Copper. Created in the late 19th century, this vase is a product of Islamic art from the Indo-Persian region. Its primary function was utilitarian, most likely as a hookah or gourd base, although it is richly decorated and engraved with geometric motifs inspired by Arab-Indian culture. Today, it can serve as a decorative piece, such as a vase to hold your most beautiful flowers. Its shape is exceptional, and its blue-gray tinted patina has slightly worn away, revealing its copper base. Fast and careful shipping to France, Europe, and worldwide.
