Description

This twelve-light chandelier is a refined testament to Parisian craftsmanship during the Restoration period. It is distinguished by its elegant silhouette and the striking contrast of its original finishes. This chandelier is a piece of ideal proportions: living room, study, entryway... Period: Restoration (circa 1820-1830). Origin: Paris, France. Materials: Bronze with a double patina. An original brown patina highlights the brilliance of the mercury-gilded bronze ornamentation. Decoration: The central stem is shaped like a bowl. The lights, with their sinuous and graceful curves, support finely crafted candle holders. Condition: Very good condition. The patina and gilding are original. Electrical: The chandelier has been electrified and brought up to code. The quality of the mercury gilding, a prestigious
