Description

A spectacular French dining table from the 1940s, resting on a remarkable patinated brown iron base adorned with powerful, finely sculpted horse heads. The metalwork, of exceptional quality, offers a distinctly neoclassical, Empire-inspired design, revisited in the post-war decorative spirit. The deep brown patina enhances the volumes and underscores the expressive modeling of the equine heads. The structure is connected by curved stretchers, ensuring perfect stability while reinforcing the overall architectural elegance. The oval smoked glass top provides contrast and lightness, balancing the sculptural strength of the base. A spectacular decorative piece, ideal for a sophisticated interior, a contemporary architectural project, or a high-end eclectic decor. Dimensions: Height: 70.5 cm Diameter: 170 cm
