Description

Camaret-sur-Mer and its port, view taken from the entrance to the town at the top of Rue des Quatre-Vents. This could be the 1926 painting exhibited at the Tuileries under number 2066:

WIKIPEDIA: "In the spring of 1926, Vivrel was back in Brittany, from where he brought back The Port of Camaret, exhibited at the 1926 Salon des Tuileries. A few years later, in 1934, he returned to Côtes d'Armor, where he composed seascapes that were essentially studies of the sky."

André-Léon Vivrel, born October 8, 1886, in Paris and died June 7, 1976, in Bonneville-sur-Touques, was a French painter and draftsman.
