Description

Empire Period Mahogany Salon Furniture, Circa 1810. Sumptuous Empire period mahogany salon furniture, resting on tapered front legs and saber rear legs. The salon furniture comprises a bergère and four armchairs. These chairs, with their reclining backs, are upholstered in a lovely olive green velvet fabric with upholstery tacks. They rest on tapered front legs ending in gilt bronze claw feet and saber rear legs. Their armrests, adorned with rosettes, rest on armrest supports decorated with antique-style female busts. Beautiful gilt bronze ornamentation includes claw feet, busts, and rosettes. The bergère has a lovely seat cushion. Comfortable and stable. This beautifully crafted furniture, with its clean and elegant lines, combines practicality and comfort. Thanks to its deep and generous seats, you can
