

Cylindrical Rubbing Mill Pestle On A Stand, Capsian Culture Of The Early Neolithic

495 EUR

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : En l'etat

Material : Stone

Width : 32

Height : 11

Depth : 7

Description

A magnificent cylindrical friction pestle from the Capsian culture of early Neolithic hunter-gatherers in North Africa (9000-5400 BC), bearing deep traces of millennia of use. The Capsian culture represents a period of transition between hunter-gatherer and more pastoral societies. This stone pestle is a remarkable example of early use.

Dealer

Gallery Elder

Antiquités

Mobile : +12267503140

12 Maplehurst Ave

Ottawa K2H9G