Description

Elegant pair of wall sconces shaped as a leafy ramage, representative of the Hollywood Regency decorative style of the 1960s-1970s.
The wall support, carved in wood, follows the vertical development of the ramage like a shadow tracing the silhouette of the lanceolate leaves. These are crafted in bronzed mirror with finely engraved veins.
At the base of the ramage sits a small stylised brass vase, from which rise four brass stems supporting as many light points, each fitted with an E14 socket (small screw fitting) and finished with a candle-shaped sleeve.
