Description

This superb regional armoire, known as a "gendarme's hat" armoire, exquisitely embodies the aesthetics of the Louis XV style. Crafted from solid cherry wood, it features two majestic medallion doors at the front. These doors, slightly projecting beyond the legs, are securely held in place by three brass hinges each. The armoire closes with its original lock, in perfect working order, complete with its key. Long, finely chiseled brass escutcheons with flowing lines adorn the front, highlighting the meticulous attention to detail. Between the two doors, a central pilaster stands out, topped with two decorative elements featuring three flutes. The upper rail is delicately carved with a basket of flowers, an emblematic motif of the Louis XV style. The simply crafted cornice lends the piece a
