Description

This 1960s Scandinavian teak chair impresses with its elegant lines and quality craftsmanship. Its curved backrest gently cradles the back with the ergonomic comfort typical of Nordic design. The seat, upholstered in black faux leather with bluish undertones, offers a subtle and refined contrast that underscores the overall simplicity. The tapered, slightly angled legs give the chair an airy appearance while ensuring excellent stability. Every detail testifies to the craftsmanship characteristic of Danish creations of the period: discreet joinery, meticulous finishing, and balanced proportions. This piece is ideal for an office or reading nook and fits equally well in a vintage or contemporary interior, adding a touch of character without ostentation. *****Period: 1960 Excellent condition after restoration in our
