Description

This impressive bronze sculpture, featuring a beautifully nuanced black patina, depicts an Kudu antelope, instantly recognizable by its long, spiraled horns rising majestically toward the sky. The modeling is executed with great refinement: the forms are full and harmonious, the musculature subtly suggested, while the polished surface captures the light and reveals delicate variations in reflection. The pose, both noble and serene, gives the animal an almost monumental presence, enhanced by its remarkable dimensions: 1.70 meters in height and 95 cm in length. The overall effect conveys a sense of restrained power and timeless elegance. No signature or foundry mark is visible, allowing the expressive strength of the subject and the quality of execution to take center stage.
