Period : 19th century

Condition : En l'etat

Description
