Description

- Fountain spout in the shape of a dolphin, cast iron, dating from the late 19th - early 20th century. - This zoomorphic fountain spout depicts a marine species commonly known as a "dolphin." The detailed lines of its scales, the expressiveness of its eyes, and its exaggeratedly open and rimmed mouth make it a highly decorative object. Furthermore, the heterogeneous reddish hues that punctuate its body emphasize the animal's otherworldly aspect and add to its uniqueness. - Two other identical fountain spouts are available in our gallery. - Good condition, ready for use. - Dimensions: Depth: 21 cm, Width: 14.5 cm, Height: 14 cm, Mouth diameter: 2.9 cm
