Description

Elegant Louis XVI oval frame dating to the late 18th century, finely carved and gilt in gold leaf.The moulding is decorated with a continuous neoclassical frieze of floral and foliate motifs typical of late 18th-century craftsmanship. The gilding retains a beautiful aged patina, with natural wear enhancing its antique character.The frame was later converted into a mirror, now fitted with a mercury glass plate. It likely originally housed a painting or devotional oval panel.Good overall condition, with minor cracks, small losses, and age-consistent wear.Dimensions: 89 x 73 cm; sight size 71 x 56 cm.For further information, photos, or technical details, please feel free to contact us.
