Description

Pair of Murano glass lamps from the 1970s-80s in gilt brass - Italian Design, 20th Century. Spectacular pair of Italian lamps in blown Murano glass. Each base features an architectural composition of clear glass separated by gilt brass structures and mounted on a gilt brass base. The shade, made of burnished velvet with a gilt interior, reinforces the sculptural and refined character of the whole. A striking play of light, between brilliance, depth, and reflections, typical of Italian design from the 1970s-1980s. Each lamp weighs 13 kg. It measures 93 cm in total height with the shade and 25 cm in width. The square base measures 25 cm, and the shade alone is 30 cm high and 58 cm wide. They are in very good condition; note a few small marks on the brass, which also attest to their authenticity.
