Description

Pair of antique Bohemian crystal stair finials with a two-layer overlay: cobalt blue on the inside and white on the outside.

The contrast between the deep transparent blue and the opaque white layer gives the pair a bright and striking visual presence. They are not spherical, each piece has an ovoid shape slightly flattened at the top.

The attachment system is screw-mounted, partially concealed by a bronze collar; on one of the collars, there is a small old hole filled with a metallic material, likely an early repair intended to stabilise the fitting.
