Description

A fireplace plaque in perfect condition, a 20th-century example of a plaque dated 1576 (1.5.7.6) bearing the arms of Dom Lambert Lallemand, or Abbot Lambert de Villiers, originally from Villiers-devant-Orval, the 36th Abbot of Orval from 1577 to 1588, marked DON LABERT / ABBE D'ORVAUX. The date of his investiture is disputed, but the plaque bears witness to it, as does the signature on the armorial of the Abbots of Orval (see our last photo). The appointment of a coadjutor, ratified by Philip II of Spain in 1586, was likely the occasion for an intrigue to force his resignation. Coat of arms: Argent, a bend gules, charged with three trefoil leaves or, accompanied in chief by a mullet of the same and in base by a blackbird sable. The shield is surmounted by a mitre superimposed on a
