Description

Golden religious Florentine triptych of the Virgin and Child by Raphael 50s. Symbolize your devotion with a quality object, from the artisanal traditions of Florence, that you can bring with you during your travels. You have certainly already seen these triptychs, but do you know their history? Of Florentine style, this triptych is entirely handmade, keeping a reproduction side with in its center and on its windows images reproducing religious works of the Renaissance like the Virgin with the Child of Raphael and the announcing angels on its sides. They were produced in the 1940s to 1960s by artisans from religious circles, very often to spread their faith and fund local church projects in Italy. Very popular with pilgrims and travelers, they were brought on a journey with them, to France, where
