Plain Silver Beaker, Parcel-Gilt -- German, c. 1780-1810

Plain, slightly tapering cylindrical silver beaker on a narrow foot rim with a gilt interior. The body is entirely smooth and unengraved. The rim is folded outward and defined by a fine double moulding. The foot rim is simply profiled. The slightly conical body widens from the narrow base toward the mouth.

The transition between the softly burnished silver exterior and the warmly glowing gilt interior is precisely executed. The surface shows an even, age-appropriate patina with no dents, cracks or
