Description

Characteristic of the 1940s, this Tank ring is crafted in rose gold and platinum, an iconic combination of this era when bold volumes and structured lines dominated jewelry design. Its architectural setting is delicately adorned with rose-cut diamonds totaling approximately 0.15 carats, adding a touch of subtle brilliance that underscores the ring's graphic power. A jewel with a strong character, reflecting the audacious style of the mid-20th century, combining elegance with timeless modernity.
