Description

The iconic Edipo table lamp, designed by Mario Barbaglia and Marco Colombo for PAF Studio in the 1980s. This iconic creation of Italian post-modern design is frequently associated with the dynamic aesthetic of the Memphis Group. The lamp is distinguished by its bold and architectural silhouette, evoking a stylized arrow or skyscraper. Its strong graphic composition, blending metal and plexiglass, makes it a sculptural piece in its own right, typical of experimental 1980s design. A true object of character, the Edipo lamp brings a powerful and decorative visual presence, ideal for a contemporary interior, a design collection, or a creative space.
